

Those of us without HDTV will need to record HDTV broadcasts to view them with standard equipment (after computer conversion). Recording TV shows for later viewing has been ruled legal; the difference between digital and analog will almost be ruled irrelevant by any competent court.